Hello Parents,

The four day whirlwind has ended!! Actually this was a productive four days. We wrapped up the first assignment in Minecraft. You should try to check out Google Classroom to see your kiddo's great work.

Friday we got started on the next project...square footage. This part of the Minecraft project involves designing and building the footprint of a house...without a roof. This will be the basis for the next step in the project.

Next week we will resume reading groups. There will be a few good changes as we include afternoon times. Looking forward to books clubs and book projects!

We've been talking about project planning. We have a 6 month calendar with color coding to help visualize the timing. You can find similar info at:

Thank you to those that have already return the report card envelopes. Please try to sign and return the envelope ASAP. The report card draft is yours to keep.

BOOK PROJECTS:

There are 5 projects due each grading period. That means 5 due by March 10.
