Hello Parents,

This was a busy week. The class has worked hard all week. This has really pushed a few kiddos such that this has been a tough week for them. The expectations are fair...but there have been some struggles. PLEASE try to help your kiddos through the evenings and weekends get caught up on ThatQuiz.org (login through my website), Google Classroom Assignments (new EVERY week) and SpellingCity. These three sites are just a couples, but they are among the main ones that have impact on grades.

Monday we are away in the morning on a field trip! This should be a fun one. <http://dinosaurzoolive.us/> is the link that has a little media and some info about the show. We will leave at about 9:15 for the 10am show. We should return by about 11:30. Expecting fun...hoping for the best!!

Next should be another busy week. I look forward to seeing more creativity in MinecraftEDU. Some of your kiddos are creating some great homes...that actually have quite a bit of realism. The end product will be a Google Classroom slideshow (similar to a Real Estate listing) that shows off as much of the house and property as possible. I told this class that there goal was to build an amazing house...then sell it with amazing pictures. This is ALWAYS a fun project.

The weather seems to be confused...to winter or not to winter...I just wish I knew what to expect. Please try to send the kiddos prepared. I know that most prefer not to wear a coat...but sometimes (like today) the temperature just didn't reach the predicted high and 29* in a sweatshirt wasn't a good time outside. Let's be prepared and not need the heavy coat than the reverse!
