Hello Parents,

Another busy week has flown past!! The evidence is loading up my Youtube channel!!! Stop motion video creation has almost become an epidemic. It's so fun to see their creative ideas come to life. There a couple with some interesting ideas on humor...knowing a few parents...I think I understand.

Next week we will continue with some of the same...and some new stuff. We will be looking at an interesting origin story of a comic hero as well as the significance of the signet ring. This will be a graded project...not just fun. After completing a little research and a writing assignment each student will have a chance to create their own design based on the character they create or research. This is a fun project...but really requires a little creativity both in writing and design.

Well, you know it's a busy awesome Friday when you get over 50 videos created and shared in your email box. The kiddos have been busy busy busy!! Daily work was done by most early and then the filming began! Some are VERY creative, some are very well thought out...and some are just plain funny!
