Hello Parents,

It's Thursday...but sort of Friday. Four day week...a.k.a. Whirlwind week....but we survived. In fact, we accomplished many things this week. Work...always work, but stop motion films (they are getting SO MUCH BETTER!!!), hero/signet rings...coming along beautifully, and a poetry reading project that will incorporate green/blue screen technology. So much fun, and we even had a couple days of batting practice during snack break.

Next week is a FULL week...so everything will be normal. The hero/signet ring project is due April 26...so just over a week and a half. This is something you can help your student with at home. They need to get into Google Classroom and complete a little research, a little writing, then they can begin creating their ring. The files are all available via the gallery: "Blank Hero-Signet Ring". The class should remember from past assignments that they can then "copy and tinker" the item into their TinkerCAD account.

We are looking at just about five and a half weeks to the end of the year. That means Book Projects...Completing ALL ThatQuiz assignments, and generally staying on top of work and projects.

ISTEP part II is upon us. Tuesday will be practice, then we will dive into two weeks of fun and joy...actually it shouldn't be all that bad, one section a day...20-maybe 40 minutes a section. And we should be done in eight days...if your child is here each day. Makeups will follow the regular testing days. This leaves plenty of time for "normal" work as well as project work. We will be busy...but we shouldn't be miserable.
