Hello Parents,

It's been an interesting week! Great things happened with Ms. Moya in charge. The class has researched and learned about some incredible olympians. Next week we will begin sharing some of the wonderful slideshows they've created. I was happy to be back in the classroom Thursday and Friday...unfortunately that meant losing Wednesday...both for the class and my training. I'll be testing next Friday...hopefully just half day.

We are working through a few assessments this next week. STAR Reading and Math, Reading A-Z and a few more IKAN math assessments are on the agenda this week. These are the middle of the year assessments that begin to show the progress during 3rd grade.

Ms. Moya and I have a fun filled busy week planned!! New writing assignments, new creative work with stop motion video creation and more! This will be a great week starting with our field trip to Purdue for the "Freedom Riders" performance. This looks to be an informative show with loads of history embedded. I hope to have some great discussions and possibly writing following the show. So many good things this week...so little time!

Be aware of the weather this week. The temperatures are again in flux and there is the possibility of snow several days this week. Make sure your child is dressed and accessorized accordingly. Recess stinks when you aren't dressed correctly.

Please make sure to be reading at home. Book projects are just there as the proof of reading. The real goal is enjoying reading. A couple students regularly share their reading and their visible joy about the stories and excitement. This is one of the many things I love about teaching.

Round 3 of the great book projects have started. They are due the Friday before Spring Break! Make sure your student is following the guidelines: <http://mrbrantley.weebly.com/book-projects.html>

BOOK PROJECTS:

There are 5 projects due each grading period. That means 5 due by March 9th.
