Happy Friday ,

We are wrapping up a busy and very productive week. As I sit here writing listening to Ms. Kolbe read our class read aloud it's funny how such a busy week can end with such calm. This week research projects were completed, MinecraftEDU houses are nearing completion and so much math, reading, language arts and more daily and lesson work has been completed.

Next week is a two day week...just Monday and Tuesday. Then we will enjoy a long five day time with family and friends for Thanksgiving. I hope that everyone will be able to see or at least virtually see family and friends over this break. I also hope that tonight (Friday) the WL varsity football team is victorious and we will be going to one more game over the break.

On Monday and Tuesday we will have some fun work and maybe just a little serious/real classwork. I have heard from a couple families about leaving early, or returning late. Please, no judgment, let me know if your student will be absent any days next week or the following.

I will be composing and sending information about our class service project soon. The No-Sew blankets and hats will be a great fun time and a wonderful way for our class to give back to our community.

Have a great weekend. For any attending the game tonight...BUNDLE UP!!! It's going to be a cold night watch the Red Devils compete!! Happy Friday and RDP!!!

Have a great weekend!!!
