Dear Parents,

ISTEP is done!!! With no more errors and apparent smooth sailing we concluded ISTEP and everyone was thrilled to put that business to rest.

We are in the final two week stretch and not quite done. We are finishing the class guitar. The goal is to finish by the end of the year, but we will wait until fall to auction and kick off the school year. I promise to share and keep everyone from this class involved in the success of the silent auction. This year has been a whirlwind experience and the class has poured a lot of heart and soul into their work. I sincerely look forward to the completion of the guitar.

We are working on bringing this school year to a positive and successful close. With the latest projects not done we have time for robotics, 3D design and some outdoor endeavors. One endeavor that will no doubt continue to the end is this class' passion for reading. The daily reading and responses continue to show the interest and enthusiasm for reading.

I have plans for lots of robotics, Minetest and more fun for the next couple weeks. Fun...without the underlying project/problem solving slid in under the student's radar ☺. We will try to squeeze in at least one more TFK and at least one more SSW before wrapping those up for the year. TFK will be homework and we will work through and cover the study guide for SSW in class.

Have a great weekend!!
